How we can help

Section 3, Health and Safety at Work Act 1974

Businesses have a duty to ensure that customers do not face unacceptable risks.

- Employers must ensure that their customers are not exposed to health and safety risks.
- Customers should be fully informed in situations that may affect their health or safety.

WE CAN HELP

Traditionally, our most in-demand services for the vehicle sales sector have included washroom maintenance and floorcare services. Our experts continue to meet the needs of providers in this sector with a wide range of products and services.

Immaculate floors

- Shoe-borne dirt and moisture can easily make its way into your vehicle dealership, affecting the appearance of your floors and posing a health and safety risk. Our non-slip, highly absorbent mats help to tackle this problem directly, and can be emblazoned with your company logo for a smart, professional entrance to your office.

Air quality

- With air quality an issue in many inner city areas and indoor air containing up to five times more contaminants than outdoor air, phs provide air purification products that improve the air quality of your customers' environment, creating a more hygienic and welcoming atmosphere.

Remain legally compliant

- All public-facing businesses are affected by certain laws and regulations to prevent health and safety hazards from affecting customers. While it can be tricky to stay on top of the latest legislation, the expert team at phs is always on hand to answer questions and ensure that your business is legally compliant.

Professionally maintained washrooms

- Unhygienic and poorly maintained washrooms are likely to leave customers with a negative perception of your business, potentially leading them to look elsewhere for their vehicles. phs can help to make sure this never happens, providing regular service visits to help keep your customer toilets clean and topped up with essentials such as soap and toilet roll.

Buying a car or other vehicle is one of the most significant purchases that most people will make. For dealerships up and down the country, creating the right impression with the environment their customers experience is an important factor when it comes to securing sales.

Attention to detail is key here – while suited sales reps and shiny cars will certainly help to make an impression, cleanliness and hygiene within your organisation also needs to be taken into account to leave clients with a positive image of your business.

At phs, we regularly help over 1,400 vehicle dealerships to make the right impression, providing a range of professional and affordable services to keep their businesses hygienic and presentable.
